12 ways agents get on their clients' last nerves

Every agent is familiar with all ways clients can annoy even the most composed real estate professional — but how many agents think about what it’s like for clients when the tables are turned? Here are 12 things real estate agents do that consumers find completely annoying.

Source: click here