Zillow shares take a tumble amid plans to get into iBuyer business

The market hasn’t responded kindly to Zillow’s announcement that they’re expanding their Instant Offer program to new markets and getting into the business of buying and selling homes.

Source: click here