6 tips for creating a personal brand that'll stand the test of time

Survival in real estate is all about providing value. This very idea has been the topic of discussion for real estate agents and brokers on many levels lately as we evaluate the future of our business. Here are six key ways to brand yourself as an agent while working for a larger brokerage.

Source: click here