Agents vs. brokers: How do they spend their marketing budget?

Both real estate agents and brokers are keenly aware of how integral a good marketing plan is for their businesses, but a new report from real estate marketing agency Adwerx and the real estate data company Real Trends finds there are major differences in how the two spend their marketing dollars.

Source: click here