Chime goes from CRM to multichannel business marketing platform

Chime Technologies — a real estate software product that helps agents, brokers and teams manage leads, listings and business marketing — leveraged the industry energy of ICSF last week to announce a number of new additions to its flagship software product, Chime.

Source: click here