4 tech trends consumers demand in 2019

With the advent of new digital tools, real estate has seen significant impacts to the usual way of doing business. Not only has tech made the process of homebuying easier and faster, but information is far more accessible than ever before. Today, no matter which side of the transaction your client is on, four technologies will play a significant role.

Source: click here