Former seller sues Coldwell Banker, NRT for agent cold calls

Calling expired listings is a time-honored way to drum up business in real estate, but being on the receiving end of such calls is not always welcome.

Source: click here