Health and wellness-focused homes surge in popularity

The wellness real estate market, which includes homes equipped to optimize health, is valued at $134 billion, approximately 1.5 percent of all construction.

Source: click here