How a spirit of generosity will win you new business

Follow the advice of your grandma, and never arrive at a party empty-handed. Contribute to any given situation by giving prospective clients useful information, advice and comfort. They'll thank you with new business.

Source: click here