How the US broke Purplebricks: Former employees sound off

Purplebricks announced on Wednesday it was shuttering its U.S. operations. The flat-fee brokerage was only live in the U.S. for less than two years, but its departure doesn't come as a surprise to many former employees.

Source: click here