How to be a productive team in a shifting market

In a shifting market, one thing that will create success for a team is moving “lead generation” up to the top of their value proposition.

Source: click here