How to recruit top agents like the big dogs: Part 2

For small and indie brokers to compete against the big dogs when recruiting, they must be able to articulate their strengths, uncover the agent's motivation for leaving their present firm and provide them with concrete strategies to help them build their business.

Source: click here