Is the industry missing today while planning for tomorrow?

It seems the more the real estate industry changes and gets “disrupted,” the more it stays the same, which is why it’s important to enjoy today while planning for tomorrow; tomorrow might not be what you expect it to be.

Source: click here