Lower splits lead to rise in dual agency transactions: Study

A new study found that the chance of a dual agency transaction increased if the listing broker made the listing less appealing to buyers or buyer's agents.

Source: click here