More than a quarter of all properties in the US are equity rich, new report says

The amount of seriously underwater homes in the United States saw its smallest year-over-year decrease since 2013, according to new data from ATTOM Data Solutions. Meanwhile the percentage of equity rich homes enjoyed a year-over-year increase for the 10th consecutive quarter.

Source: click here