Real estate companies sued over unsolicited text message spam

Agent cold calls have come under attack recently, and now their text message equivalent are also under scrutiny, according to a series of Florida lawsuits.

Source: click here