Hold your tongue! 5 things real estate agents should never say to clients

Like many of us, if I had a dollar for every time I engaged my mouth before consulting my brain, I would be a very rich woman! When reflecting on conversations past, there are plenty of things I wish I could take back.

Source: click here