Realtor, real estate agent, broker: What’s the difference?

These terms often get confused in the world of buying and selling property, so take this as a cheat sheet and share it.The bottom line for clients is -- who do you need to represent you? Someone that you know and trust.

Source: click here