Salesforce nixes gun stores: Should real estate care?

Salesforce is a large business technology company, and its CRM is very popular among real estate agents. The company has decided to stop selling its e-commerce software to retail gun stores. How will real estate respond?

Source: click here