How psychology is holding back real estate tech

When Mike DelPrete thinks about the modernization of the industry and tech adoption, his position is: What's holding us back is psychology, not technology.

Source: click here