Staging vs. decorating: How to explain the difference to sellers

Most real estate agents today acknowledge that, in the majority of cases, staging a listing makes it sell faster and for more money. So agents swear by staging especially for pricier properties (and, according to a 2017 NAR study 38 percent of agents stage all their listings, regardless of price).

Source: click here