The key to building a personal brand from scratch

These days, it can be hard to build a consistent brand whether you’re a large corporation or a single broker, as we’ve seen from companies struggling to offer coherent messages of social and political activism. A panel of experts tackled strategies at Inman Connect New York 2019 on Thursday.

Source: click here