Lessons from ‘The Bachelor’ on winning a bidding war

I have a confession to make: I have seen every season of “The Bachelor.” For those not familiar with the show, the premise is simple: a single, attractive man is given the opportunity to meet approximately 25 women over the course of the season in search of his future wife.

Source: click here