What my old-fashioned dad taught me about the 'typical' iBuyer

You can imagine my surprise, when as I was telling my conservative, Luddite dad about Opendoor's model and how the company makes an offer on a property before it's listed, he stopped me cold and said, "So, I wouldn't have to do showings? I'd be interested in that."

Source: click here