What to do when a natural disaster strikes your listing

Agents and homeowners who have property on the market (or under contract) that has been caught in Florence's destructive path will be facing major challenges while trying to close their deals. Here's what to expect.

Source: click here