When the Wall Street steamrollers come for real estate

The writing is on the wall for real estate companies today: you need to be ready to pivot hard and keep up with a constantly shifting landscape of well-moneyed players — or get into another business entirely.

Source: click here