Why the tech revolution has been overhyped

Despite the plethora of new tech and abundant online information, the fundamentals of the real estate transaction process remain the same.

Source: click here