

Stop worrying already — tech is NOT going to replace you

Until the technology exists to replace human ingenuity and empathy, agents need to stop obsessing over what they think will replace them. Leverage technology to increase your efficiency, communicate better with your clients, help you cover a larger prospect area and convert more inquiries into clients.

Source: click here