What you see is what you get

What if you had to insure your future as an inventor? How would you see the world differently if at one point you had lost your sight ...

Source: click here