Why building relationships is paramount to maintaining a healthy pipeline

This story about two agents' transactions illustrates the difference between a "little picture" and "big picture" approach to growing your real estate career.

Source: click here