Why you shouldn't fear losing the real estate deal

Most agents will agree that losing a deal they've worked hard to put together is never fun. Sometimes though, it can almost feel like a higher power is at work and a failed deal can truly save the day. Here are three examples of how it can all work out just fine.

Source: click here